Aunt Seward's Shopping Tour.

I.
"Good morning, Aunty Seward,
O whither are you bound?"
"O I am out a shopping,
To buy some solid groud."

II.
"O tell me, Aunty Seward,
What kind of land you'd buy."
"Well, really, almost anything,
That chanced to catch my eye."

III.
"O stop, good Aunty Seward,
Just look upon my stock,
I've every kind of land to sell,
From continent to rock.

IV.
"And first, good Aunty Seward,
Look at this goodly spot;
Rich, soggy moss and icebergs—
Seven millions for the lot.

V.
"And here, good Aunty Seward,
See what a lovely bay,
Two millions is the lowest price,
Worth twice as much, I say.

VI.
"Well, really, Aunty Seward,
Here is a bargain nice,
The island home of earthquakes,
It's cheap at any price.

VII.
"And here's the Fejee Islands!
To lose them were a sin;
With all their tropic verdue,
And cannibals thrown in.

VIII.
"You'll take them, Aunty Seward!"
"Waal, yes, I guess I will;
Just send them round to Uncle Sam;
He'll have to foot the bill."

Going Shopping.

The fiery crimson places along the west were emboldening into ruins—the damp, dewy breeze came up from dells and hollows innumerable, and yet Charley Byron stood leaning over the little wicket gate, carpet bag on his arm, though the cars were momently expected at the rural station below the hill, exchanging last words with his only sister, the little orphaned thing he loved so dearly. He could not bear to leave her once more with the acid old aunt, who was "bringing her up," or snubbing her down, and yet what sort of a home could he, a solitary business man, offer her in the crowded city? It seems almost as if his brief visit of two or three hours had already depressed her than otherwise.

"Come, Bertha, what does make you so sober?" said he, putting his hand under the little chin, so that the humid hazel eyes were turned full toward his own. "Aunt Hepsy has gone in for fear of night dews and rheumatism—tell me the trouble?"

"It is so silly," murmured the girl, hiding her forehead on his shoulder, and twisting the buttons on his traveling coat round and round.

"Of course it is—I expect that as a matter of course," said he, laughing, "but let's hear what it is."

"Well, then, Charley—don't laugh at me now."

"No—go on, little brown eyes."

"Mary Ellis—my old schoolmate, you know, in New York—gives a splendid party next week, and I am invited. Mr. St. Aubyn is to be there—her cousin from Europe, and—and—I do want to go so terribly!" and Bertha began to cry on Charley's shoulder.

"Well, then, why don't you go?"

"Aunt Hepsy won't let me," sobbed the aggrieved damsel; "she says parties are sinful and—"

"What else?" said Charley, soothingly.

"I haven't anything to wear!" and therewith came a fresh shower of tears.

Charley was silent for a moment, thoughtfully smoothing down the bright chestnut curls. At length he spoke—

"We'll manage it, Bertha. Aunt Hepsy won't let you come to a party, but she'll let you come and see me. I'll write for you as soon as I reach home."

"But the dress?"

"I'll see to it, dear—there, don't you hear the whistle! I must run away from you now—one more kiss, and good bye."

The next moment he was gone—Bertha was smiling through the scarce dry tears—and Aunt Hepsy was screaming for her niece to come in out of the dew—was she crazy?

During the whole of his long night journey, Charley Byron pondered over the onerous charge he had undertaken. He knew no more about the mysteries of dress than his carpetbag did—he had no lady acquaintance in New York on whom he could call for aid, for he was one of those shy, reserved characters, who seem cut out to be old bachelors—and yet with all the presumptuous bliss of ignorance, he had the impudence to suppose he could manage matters perfectly well.

The first thing after he had written the letter which was to bring little Bertha down to New York, for a short visit, he brushed his hair, tied his cravat, and went out shopping.

"For," argued he, mentally, "nobody knows how long it will take to sew the plaguy little things up after they are bought."

So with plenty of money in his purse, and a valorous heart, he sallied forth, determined to conceal his ignorance on the subject as much as possible. But what on earth to ask for he didn't know. Something he knew that the ladies wore that looked light and fleecy and cloud like, but whether it was woolen or cotton, or buckram, he didn't know. But he wasn't to be daunted.

"What is the stuff that ladies wear?" he asked of the dapper little gentleman who officiated as clerk.

"The ladies wear? Silk, sir."

"Yes, let me see some," said Charley, clutching at the forlorn hope. The clerk brought a pile of silks.

"No—it isn't as thick as that," said he despondingly. "Like this," he exclaimed, an instant afterward, as his eye caught a huge piece of muslin for curtains swaying from the ceiling.

"Impossible, sir;" cried the scandalized clerk. "Ladies don't wear that—why its for window curtains."

Charley's countenance fell. "Well, tell us what they do wear?"

"Perhaps you mean calico, sir?"

"Calico—may be I do. Let's look at it."

"What color, sir?"

"Red—or pink, I suppose." Charley's taste in the colors was for the prononce.

The calico came—a bright rose pink. Charley pondered over it with corrugated brows. Somehow it didn't seem quite the fabric, but then the color was exquisite, and it occurred to him just then that it was the "fussing and fixings" that gave dresses such a light, floating look, not the material. And besides he was getting bewildered, and had a vexatious impression that those puppies behind the counter were laughing at him.

"How much is it?" he demanded, tartly.

"Eighteen cents a yard, sir."

"Give me a frock off it," said Charley, secretly thinking that dress wasn't so expensive after all.

"How many yards, did you say, sir?"

"Twenty," quoth our hero at a venture, and left the store with his ponderous bundle, wondering what the deuce those fellows were grinning at.

The next thing he supposed was to have it made, and he passed before an establishment where "Millinery and Dressmaking" was emblazoned in letters of gold on plate glass. They were all women within—Charley ascertained this by a series of sly peeps through the window—and he stood in mortal fear and horror of everything that wore a petticoat, little Bertha alone excepted! But there was not any help for him—go in he must, and at length, after a full half hour's hesitation, he screwed up his courage and dived bravely into the recess of Madame Lavigne's aristocratic sanctum.

"How can I serve you?" lisped the lady herself, a high-shouldered dame, all flowers, and ribbons, and rouge.

"I want a party dress made for a lady," said Charley, producing his brown paper parcel.

"Ah, indeed! What is the material—grenadine, taffetta, tulle or organdie? What style would you prefer, a l'Eugenie, Pompadour, or surplice? Trimmings en bouillon, I suppose."

"Just what you please, ma'am," said Mr. Byron, literally overwhelmed by the glib tongue of his interlocutor. At this instant the carriage of a well known millionaire's lady paused at the door, and madame rushed to the inner room to summon the auxiliaries.

"Elizabeth! Lizzie! child, come, and take the gentleman's orders, quick, while I wait on Mrs. Hartell! Hurry now—you're always so slow."

A slender little thing of about 17 glided from the close, furnace like work-room, with the thimble yet on her finger, and stood with downcast eyelids and timid air, awaiting Mr. Byron's orders.

She was very pale and pretty, and Charley actually didn't know what to say, so they both stood silently regarding one another until a little scarlet shadow flitted into her cheek and she inquired:

"Do you wish a dress made up, sir?"

Charley deposited his bundle on the counter.

"I want it done by Wednesday night—make it very fine, if you please—lots of ribbons and fixing, and all the fashionable trimmings—burnions, the lady said, didn't she?"

"Bouillons, sir," said the girl, trying hard not to smile.

"Oh," said Charley, somewhat confused, "yes, that's it. How much will it be?"

"Our price for composing a dress, sir, is seven dollars."

"Very well, I'll call for it on Wednesday night."

"But, sir," said the girl, arresting him as he was seizing his hat, "how can we tell what size to make it?"

"Gracious Jupiter!" quoth Charley, using in his trepidation an interjection less elegant than classic. "I never thought of that!"

It did seem as if the important preparations had come to an end, but Charley's good genius fortunately came to the rescue with a happy thought.

"She's just about your size—can't you measure that way?"

"I suppose so, sir," said the girl, smiling, and Charley at length escaped, with a face like scarlet, a cheap sort of feeling that was far from agreeable.

"Don't catch this chap marketing for a woman's dress again in a hurry," thought he. "But what a sweet looking girl that was, and how crossly the madame spoke to her. I couldn't help feeling thankful that Bertha was not exposed to such sights."

A pair of white kid gloves, a flaming head-dress of crimson roses and pink ribbons, and a spangled fan completed Charley's preparations, and he began to congratulate himself on the speed with which he had acted.

"A woman would have been a week deciding what to wear shopping around for it," thought he, complacently lighting his cigar for an evening smoke.

"Why, Madame!" cried Elizabeth Grey, about five minutes after Mr. Byron had left the shop, "this is calico!"

"Calico!" shrieked Madame Lavigne, "so it is!" And for a party dress? Well, well, go and make it up—some eccentric freak, I suppose—none of our business anyhow!"

And Elizabeth obeyed, secretly wondering who the gentleman was that had such singular taste. He certainly had fine eyes and a pleasant smile—it was so rarely that poor Lizzie met a kind glance or word.

"Well, is the dress made?" querried Charley, on Wednesday afternoon, as he once more entered Madame Lavigne's establishment.

"Oh yes, sir. Lizzie! Lizzie! bring in that calico."

And in about five minutes, which Charley employed in whirling listlessly round on a squeaking stool, setting madame's nerves all on a quiver, Lizzie Grey came tripping in, arrayed in the pink abomination, her pearly shoulders and round arms surrounded by endless rows of little puffs, and about a yard of roseate calico trailing on the ground behind.

"How do you like it, sir?"

It did look pretty on that sweet looking damsel, and Charley expressed his satisfaction in terms which made Lizzie laugh and blush and look very charming generally.

"But I don't think it's quite fine enough," said he dubiously. "I want some artificial flowers among those little things that look like blisters."

"The bouillons, sir."

"Yes—can't you put on a lot there, and on the sleeves?"

Lizzie went to the work-room, marveling much at the curious taste of the customer, and decorated the waist and sleeves with about seventy-five rose buds, and then Charley was content.

He carried the dress home himself, all neatly done up, lest by any means it should not be sent in time, and spread it out ostentatiously on the bed, flanked by the headdress, the fan and the gloves.

"There, that will astonish Bertha, I imagin!" reflected he. How long the afternoon seemed—he wanted the moment to arrive when his zealous efforts should be crowned by a fitting meed of praise!

"Come in and see your frock," was the first greeting he bestowed on his sister, when at length, flushed and smiling, she sprang from the carriage steps into his arms. He could not wait for her to remove her bonnet, but hurried her at once into the scene of exhibition. "There! What do you think of that for a party rig?"

Bertha at first turned white, then crimson; her lip quivered as though she were going to cry, and then she changed her mind and burst into the merriest, most contagious little peal of laughter that ever echoed through those lonely bachelor rooms.

"What's the matter?" said Charley, somewhat confused.

"Matter? I can never wear that hideous thing in the world! Why—Charley! did you buy it for a party dress?"

"To be sure I did! Ain't it pink?"

"Pink? I should think it was! It's enough to set the house on fire—and six-penny calico, too!"

"It was eighteen pence," growled the discomfitted Mr. Byron.

"You dear, stupid, good-for-nothing darling, just go out and order my trunks. What a blessing that I had the presence of mind to bring a white muslin!"

And in a simple white dress, ornamentless and plain as a water lily, Bertha attended Miss Ellis' ball, sorely disappointed at Charley's lack of taste, but consoling that despondent cavalier by wearing his white kid gloves as a compromise; yet it so happened that her costume was the most effective in all the brilliant rooms.

"Who is that lovely little creature in white?" asked Mr. St. Aubyn, the hero of the evening.

"Why, there are fifty ladies here in white," said Miss Ellis, laughing.

"Yes, but I mean the one dressed in such perfect simplicity, such exquisite taste—without a solitary ornament but her own fresh, rosebud like beauty—there by the piano. Do introduce me, Miss Ellis."

And like a true chevalier of romance, Edward St. Aubyn fell in love at first sight with Charley Byron's blooming little sister, and when grim old Aunt Hepsy wrote to know whether or not her niece meant to return, Charley wrote back that he thought Bertha might possibly remain in New York all her lifetime, as he believed she was engaged to be married to Mr. St. Aubyn.

"So you see that my pink calico got you a husband after all, Miss Impertinence, a great deal sooner than your fol-de-rols would have done," observed Charley.

"And you a wife, sir," returned the young lady, with just the slightest knowing glance from under the shadow of her dark eyelashes.

Charley turned red, and instantaneously retreated into his lawyer's den. It will never answer to joke with women—and yet how was Charley to know that his wise little sister had ever heard of Lizzie Grey.

THE GREAT AMERICAN DESERT.—The Cheyenne Ledger says: It is but a few years since, upon every map of the United States nearly one-half of the entire area of this country lying between the Rocky Mountains and the Pacific Ocean, was indicated by a yellowish blank, containing no signs of mountains, meadows or streams, and really believed to be as it was marked, "The Great American Desert," unexplored, unknown, and considered almost impassable, entirely uninhabited; and regarded as a mysterious land which must forever be continued a waste and burying ground for those who could be so fool-hardy as to attempt the crossing of those hundreds of miles of burning sands. It is not so many years since that this opinion of the plains prevailed to a great extent throughout the United States, and was taught as a portion of the public school geography. Even the Mormons, when they started from Missouri, confidently expected that if they succeeded in reaching the country lying between the Rocky Mountains and the Sierras they would be safe from worldly persecution, and possibly their existence forgotten by the outer world. What changes have come, and how those illusions of extensive deserts in the heart of the Union have been dispelled, are circumstances with which every school boy is familiar. That which was supposed to be a waste of scorching sand, without a tree, a stream, a spring or hill, or valley to relieve the eye, has been found to consist of the finest valleys in the world, with living and abundant streams of water flowing in every direction, fertilizing the soil and furnishing sustenance for countless herds of cattle. Within two years a railroad will have been completed, stretching from this to the other side of the continent, and that which was once called a desert will become a land teeming with life and producing everything required for the sustenance of man, as well as annually pouring hundreds of millions of wealth into the lap of the civilized world.

SOME cute Yankee importers have been cheating their own Custom House by getting their lead sent from Spain, run into mould, representing the heads of eminent American statesmen, and invoiced as "works of art," which come in free of duty. If the United States have to complain of lead being smuggled in on them under the form of statesmen's heads, our complaint on this side of the water is that we have to pay heavily for "statesmen's heads," which should properly be entered as "lead."—[Punch.

AN eminent divine boasted to Henry Ward Beecher, that he had accumulated ten thousand sermons. Quoth the Brooklyn preacher: "Tell me where they are stored. If there should be a deluge I would seek that spot at once as the dryest of all places."

REGISTER YOUR NAMES.—The time for holding one of the most important elections ever contemplated in the history of the United States is rapidly approaching, and the issues to be decided at the ballot-box are so vital in their nature that no one who has any just claims to citizenship can consistently disregard the exercise of his right to vote. There should be no delay in having the name of every Democrat placed on the Great Register and poll list throughout the State. No voter should lose his privilege by a neglect to register. Our enemies are at work; let us not leave anything undone that is calculated to advance the interest of the party and secure a victory for the good of the country. We hope prominent Democrats in every precinct in Yolo will attend to this important matter, and insist upon having the names of their Democratic neighbors properly enrolled.

MEETING AT THE SOLANO HOUSE.—Quite a large and enthusiastic meeting of Democrats was held at the Solano House on last Saturday evening. The meeting was addressed by Capt. John Foley, J. T. Carey and C. T. Jones, of Sacramento, Judge Rucker, of Solano, and A. H. Pratt and H. G. Burnett, of Woodland. All the speeches were listened to with attention throughout, and at a late hour the crowd adjourned with three cheers for Seymour and Blair, three for Hon. James A. Johnson and three for the speakers. A number of ladies were in attendance.

ANOTHER CONVERT.—The Stockton Gazette states that among the notable conversions to the Democracy in California, is Hon. John W. Wilcox, of Mariposa county. We are informed that he is an ardent supporter of Seymour and Blair, and will not only give them his vote, but will make himself heard during the campaign. Mr. Wilcox, it will be remembered, was a prominent candidate for Congress in the First District last year before the Republican Convention, and could have received the nomination had he desired it.

NEW DRESS.—The Napa Reporter comes to us this week, arrayed in new attire. The favorable change in its appearance is indicative of prosperity and is worthy of commendation, except, perhaps, in regard to the style adopted for its head-dress. We don't fancy too much "gingerbread," but then this little want in taste is more than counterbalanced in the fact that the editor's head and heart are both earnest and efficient in a good cause.

OVERLAND MONTHLY.—The publishers, A. Roman & Co., have our thanks for the September number of the Overland Monthly. This interesting work is becoming justly popular and richly merits the attention it receives at the hands of the reading public. It can be procured for the low price of $4 per annum at any of the Book stores. Club rates, ten copies for $30.

SMALL-POX.—A pamphlet treating of the manner of preventing small-pox has been sent to our address by the author, S. F. Elliott, M. D., of San Francisco. The writer shows clarly the necessity of vaccination and re-vaccination. The pamphlet should be distributed in every community liable to attack of the terrible disease.

FOR GRANT AND COLFAX.—Radical papers claim Michael Reese as an acquisition to the ranks of Grant and Colfax. Their prospects must be at a low ebb when they blow horns over such acquisitions. The next recruit announced we presume will be "Emperor Norton."

WEEKLY CALL.—We have received No. 1, Vol. I, of the San Francisco Weekly Call. There can be no doubt of its success as one of the leading newspapers in the State. It is edited and conducted with rare ability, is handsomely printed and really merits a liberal share of public patronage.

POLITICAL.—A dispatch to the Alta, dated Chicago, Sept. 5th, states that the Republican Congressional Convention at St. Paul, (Minn.), split, and two candidates were put in nomination, Donnelly and Gen. Hubbard. Unless a compromise is effected Becker [Dem.) will be elected.

WORK EARNESTLY.—Only a little more than seven weeks will pass away ere we are ushered on to the ides of November, when the grand contest will culminate, and questions of vital importance to the country will be decided. The interest felt in the result of the coming election is greater than was ever before experienced on a similar occasion. The people will be called upon to determine whether Radical misrule shall continue four years longer to harrass the country with its blighting influences, and all who desire peace must be nerved to the task of defeating the purposes of the desperate men of that party. The vote of California may be regarded as certain, almost beyond a doubt, to be cast in favor of men and measures calculated to redeem the land from the curses of unjust and tyrannical rulers who have so shamelessly betrayed their trust. But so great a boon cannot be expected to bless a people who do not actively and earnestly work to secure the realization of their hopes. Our enemies are secretly engaged in marshaling all their forces against us. They have no scruples in regard to the measures they adopt for the purpose of prolonging their term of power. They must be met by the united and determined spirit of the Democratic party. Let every voter who desires to see the people freed from oppression and the affairs of the Government once more in a prosperous condition, consider that it is his duty to work, from this time till the polls are closed, earnestly and faithfully in the cause.

TRAVESTIE OF FASHION.—The Stockton Gazette, of the 8th instant, says:

One of the funniest things to be seen at the Fair was placed on exhibition this morning. It is a perfect imitation of the modern style of bonnet, made of a cabbage leaf, with corn blades for ribbons, and trimmed with clusters of small, red tomatoes, grapes, and other vegetables. It is a singularly unique and original travestie, and would force a smile from the God of Melancholy himself. It was gotten up by Mrs. S. S. Baines.

WORKINGMEN FOR SEYMOUR AND BLAIR.—The Daily Republican, a workingmen's organ, published at Pittsburg, Pennsylvania, has raised the names of Seymour and Blair. It declares that the workingmen of the country have nothing to hope for from the Radicals, and that the legislation of a Radical Congress has brought one hundred thousand workingmen and mechanics of the great State of Pennsylvania to the brink of starvation.

ANOTHER "MISTAKE."—A number of Radical journals have recently been rejoiced to learn that Thomas Mooney, of the Builders' Insurance Company, had expressed his intention to support Grant and Colfax. Mr. Mooney, in a card to the Bulletin, declares that the statement is unauthorized. So much for Radical zeal in a bad cause.

AN EXTENSIVE ILLUSTRATION.—The Territorial Enterprise says: Our people have big ideas, and in expressing themselves they never use any little stunted similies. A day or two since a man said in our hearing—in speaking of the ignorance of a man of his acquaintance, with whom he was vexed—"Why, he couldn't read the name of 'God' if it was painted on the side of the Sierra Nevada Mountains in letters as big as Mount Davidson."

DEDICATION.—The Young Men's Democratic Club of Sacramento held their first meeting in their new Hall on last Tuesday evening. The Hall was formally dedicated by the Chairman of the County Central Committee. Speeches were made by Hon. J. W. Coffroth, Mr. Taylor and others. The name adopted by the Club is Jackson Hall.

"LET US HAVE PEACE."—A Nationalunion-republicanradicalmulatto Senator made a violent speech in the Legislature of Louisiana on the 4th instant, threatening to burn the city of New Orleans. He said that 10,000 torches were ready, in the hands of negroes, to reduce the city to ashes.

AN exchange tells young ladies what to beware of if they would have a fresh, healthy and youthful appearance: Late hours, large crinoline, tight corsets, hot bread, confectionery, cold draughts, pastry, decollette dress, modern novels, furnance registers, easy carriages, late suppers, thin shoes, fear of knowledge, nibbling between meals, ill temper, haste to marry, dread of growing old.

LARGE PEACHES.—The Capital Reporter of September 9th, says:

We noticed yesterday five peaches (late Crawfords), plucked from a tree in the yard of Joseph S. Friend, in this city, which weighed in the aggregate over three and a half pounds. The largest weighed fifteen ounces. The peach was of fine flavor.

CENTRAL PACIFIC RAILROAD.—The work on the Central Pacific Railroad is rapidly progressing. The grading has been completed to a point far in advance of the track-layers. There is a continuous track already laid on the grade a distance of three hundred and twenty-five miles from Sacramento.

DECEASED.—Mrs. Jones, formerly Miss Ada Hall, daughter of Col John T. Hall, of Sacramento, but now of Yolo, one of the pioneer young women of this valley, died at Fort Plain, New York, August 6th. She has been more or less ill of consumption for ten years.—[Bee.

STAGE ROBBERY.—One of Wells, Fargo & Co.'s eastern bound coaches is reported to have been robbed near La Clede station, east of Green river, on the 27th ult. The robbers escaped with $40,000.

GRAIN MARKET.—The latest reports of the San Francisco market quote wheat at $1 87½ to $1 95. Barley $2 30. Oats $2 45 to $2 50.

STATE FAIR.—The Fair at Sacramento will open on Tuesday next, the 15th inst.

NEGRO EQUALITY.—Republicans who profess a high regard for Mr. Lincoln's opinions should read the following short chapter from one of his speeches, delivered at Charleston, Illinois, in 1858:

I will say then, that I am not, nor ever have been in favor of bringing about in any way the social and political equality of the white and black races; that I am not and never have been in favor of making voters of negroes, or jurors, or qualifying them to hold office. I will say in addition that there is a physical difference between the white and black races, which will forever forbid them living upon terms of social and political equality, and that while they do remain together, there must be the position of superior and inferior, and that I am in favor of the superior position being assigned to the white man.

UPWARD TENDENCY OF GOLD.—For several weeks past there has been noticed a rise in the gold market of New York. The cause of the rise is accounted for by the Prices Current, of August 8th, as follows:

The draft for the payment of the purchase money for Alaska Territory was signed and delivered to Baron Stoeckle, the Russian Minister, on Saturday. It is drawn on the Assistant Treasurer at New York, for the sum of $7,200,000 in gold, payable on demand. The purpose of the agents of the Russian Government to remit the whole of money in installments, has strengthened the gold premium.

NERVOUS AFFECTIONS.

The shapes of the clouds and the trees do not differ more widely than the forms of nervous disease. Sometimes both the mind and body are affected, sometimes the body only, and often the complaint is confined to a single member. In one class of cases the motive nerves alone are disordered, as in St. Vitus' Dance; in another class the nerves of sensation only are attacked, as in neuralgia, tic douloureux, toothache, ear-ache, &c. Pain is, in fact, the immediate consequence of a disturbed condition of the nervous system; for only through the delicate fibers of which it is composed can pain be experienced. Tremors, hysteria, and most of the unpleasant feelings usually included under the head of nervousness, arise from the weakness of these sensitive threads which pervade every part of the animal structure and have their source in the fountain head of all sensation—the brain. The tonic action of HOSTETTER'S BITTERS is of vast service in cases of this kind. Nervous headache, ordinary face-ache, neuralgic pains and every variety of spasmodic torture, are quickly alleviated by the use of the preparation which at once braces and tranquilizes the nerves. Persons of a limphatic temperament and feeble organization are especially subject to these complaints, and should take the Bitters daily as an invigorant. Ladies will derive great benefit from them in all the peculiar physical and mental disturbances to which, as a sex, they are subject. Asafœtida, valerain, and the other nervines usually prescribed for these affections, at best merely alleviate them for the time being; but the Bitters are a permanant invigorant, and their value as a remedy for every phase of nervousness is beyond all estimate.

Constitutional Weakness.

It is a great thing to have a sound and vigorous constitution. There is nothing that money can buy comparable in value to this best gift of nature. The difference between the individual who has it and the unfortunate who has it not, is just the difference between the man who goes into battle clothed in defensive armor and one who has nothing to oppose to sword and bullet but his naked breast. "The pestilence that walketh in darkness, the sickness that destoyeth at noonday," while it lays low the man of feeble stamina, is often conquered by the native strength of what is called an "iron constitution."

Heaven, however, has not endowed even a moiety of mankind with this inestimable blessing, and therefore it behooves those who have it not, to resort to those most efficient means of constitutional invigoration which science can supply. There is good warrant for asserting that HOSTETTER'S BITTERS are admirably adapted to promote this end. Other tonics have their drawbacks. The concentrated extract of poisonous vegetable substances, which within the last few years have been introduced into the practice of medicine as invigorants, are all extremely dangerous. Prussic acid and strychnine, though often given as strengthening medicines, are not safe even in the diminutive doses; and quinine disastrously affects the nerves and the bones. But in HOSTETTER'S BITTERS there is positively nothing that is not healthful and wholesome. They contain no ingredient which by any process could be converted into an active poison, and yet as a constitutional stimulant are infinitely preferable to any of the sulphates and acetates which have been recently added to the materia medica.

The Government Countersign.

The counterfeiting of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is now a somewhat more serious as well as difficult business than it was a few years ago, each bottle of the genuine article being authenticated by the official endorsement of the United States Revenue Department in the form of a stamp engraved on steel, the counterfeit of which is a felony. See, therefore, that this Government Countersign, as well as the engraved label and note of hand of the proprietors, is attached to the bottle. The lable is embellished with a superb representation of St. George on horseback, in the act of spearing the Dragon, and underneath is a shield or escutcheon, bearing a warning inscription, which counterfeiters are advised to read before they encounter the penalty which it sets forth. Below this again is Hostetter & Smith's note of hand, the signature to which it would be rather a serious business to forge. If the public will look to these verifications of the genuineness of the article before they purchase, they cannot be deceived. The proprietary lble and Government stamp are both executed on steel in the most elaborate style of bank-note engraving, and are probably the most expensive specimen of graphic art ever attached to any medical preparation.

PREPARED AND SOLD BY

HOSTETTER & SMITH,

PITTSBURG, PA.

PITTSBURG, Sept. 4, 1866.

Messrs. Hostetter & Smith, Pittsburg, Pa.—Gents—I think I am only doing the part of a good citizen when I testify to the great benefits received by me from the use of your Stomach Bitters during the last five years. Sojourning for a short time in the oil regions, in 1861, I had a severe bilious attack, which, in connection with dyspepsia, left me in a very weak condition. I was advised to try your Bitters, and, having procured a bottle, found that they worked like a charm upon me, eight pounds having been added to my weight in the space of one week, and new life seemed to have been infused into my system—so much so, that I have been induced to use them every Summer since that time. As a tonic, I think they are invaluable. This Summer, having a similar attack (and as before, much reduced), although under the treatment of an A No. 1 physician, I was again obliged to have recourse to the old Bitters, and with the same good result, having gained six pounds within a few days. I purchased a half dozen bottles a few weeks since, and propose to use them regularly as a tonic.

Wishing you every success, I remain
Yours. gratefully, WM. MILLER.

FRANKLIN, Clinton Co., Ind., Dec. 2, 1861.

Messrs. Hostetter & Smith—Gents—Some 18 months since I was troubled with weakness of the stomach, and had lost my appetite, and, on the recommendation of Dr. Cox, our family physician, I purchased several bottles of your Bitters, which had the desired effect of restoring me to health. But of late I have not been able to obtain the Bitters in our place. Please inform me where I can purchase them, or if you will send me some on sale, I will be pleased to have the agency, as I can recommend them to be what they are represented.

Yours truly, JOHN F. HUTCHINSON.

ELDERTON, Pa., Nov. 6, 1865.

Messrs. Hostetter & Smith—Gentlemen—We have been selling your Stomach Bitters for 18 months, and find them an excellent medicine. All that is necessary is to let the people know their virtue and they will use them. I have tried them myself, and now recommend them to all who have weak stomachs. Respectfully yours,
WATTERSON & McPHERSON, Druggists.

Messrs. Hostetter & Smith—Gents—It is with the greatest pleasure that I recommend your Stomach Bitters to the public. I think it the best Bitters of the day. It is especially adapted to the South and West, where biliary derangements of the liver are prevalent. Ten years' experience in the use of compounds as curatives compels me to give your Bitters the preference that its popularity merits.

A. ANGLE, M. D.

GALLATIA, Saline Co., Ill.

MATTOON, Ill., Jan. 21, 1865.

Messrs. Hostetter & Smith—Gentlemen—I sell more of your Stomach Bitters than of any other medicine. Parties who have tried them speak in very high praise of their excellent virtues. I have used them myself, and prescribe them with unparalleled success. Very respectfully yours, G. T. GILNER, M. D.

"LET US HAVE PEACE."—At the Radical meeting in Templar Hall on Wednesday evening, McCallum declared that if Seymour and Blair were elected a revolution would follow. The meaning of such threats can only be understood by comparing them with similar statements made by more noted Radicals who speak their sentiments with more boldness. Here is what one of the speaker's brother Radicals said a short time since at Saline, Missouri. We refer to a certain Johnson, now seeking the position of Attorney General on the Radical ticket in that State: "General Grant, backed by the army and supported by the whole Radical party, would prevent with the bayonet, the inauguration of a Democratic administration at Washington, even if it were elected by the people; and also, that the Radical State Government at Jefferson City would resist and put down in the same way any attempt to inaugurate the Democratic party into power in the State of Missouri."

COUNTY COURT.—Grand Jury empanneled—T. C. Pockman, Foreman. The People vs. Elijah Lamb—Set for Monday, September 14th. The People vs. M. Macklay—Set for Tuesday, September 15th. Leonard Houx vs. His Creditors—Sheriff appointed assignee. John Goodman vs. L. Andrie—Motion of plaintiff to strike out part of defendant's answer overruled and the Court ordered the case to trial; defendant refused to prosecute his appeal, whereupon the Court gave judgment for plaintiff for $51 25 and costs of suit, and proceedings stayed for ten days. The People vs. James Murray, (indicted for robbery)—Motion to set aside indictment overruled, and defendant demurs; time of argument set for to-day.

HIGHWAY ROBBERY.—We are informed by J. M. Brank, who has just returned from Lake County, that a robbery was committed by two desperadoes on the highway, near Kelsey's, on Saturday last. The victim was Isaac Griffith, a hard working farmer, who has been engaged in harvesting in this vicinity during the present season, and who was on his way home with the proceeds of his labor. The highwaymen were masked and armed with double-barreled shot guns. They escaped with $135 in gold coin. No clue has been obtained that will lead to the detection of the perpetrators of the dastardly deed.

PROBATE COURT.—Estate of J. G. Stewart—Petition to sell real estate set for hearing on the first day of next term. Estate of John W. Huber—Letters of administration issued to Elizabeth Huber, and Leonard Houx, F. Cunningham and John Wohlfrom appointed appraisers of the estate. Estate of Isom Holler—Order granted to sell personal property, and allowance made for support of the widow. Estate of Stephen B. Holton—Elizabeth Holton appointed administratrix, and T. B. Sands, —— Ashby and Ed. Howard appraisers of the estate.

GRAND JURY.—The Grand Jury convened on Monday, T. C. Pockman, Foreman. The Jury were in session two days and finished their business in a satisfactory manner. They passed one charge and reported three true bills of indictment, the first on a charge of robbery, the second, grand larceny, third, gaming. There was also a presentment for carrying concealed weapons. The jail was visited and found to be safe and in good order. The affairs of the county we learn were reported by them to be in a prosperous condition, and the duties of the respective officers were found to have been conducted in a prudent and business like manner.

DELICIOUSLY MEDICINAL.—This is the universal verdict pronounced upon PLANTATION BITTERS by all who have tried them. The well known health-promoting ingredients from which they are made, and their invaluable merits as a remedy for indigestion and all its consequent ailments, and the preventive qualities against diseases arising from climatic changes, miasmatic influences and imperfect secretions, are so widely known and so honorably endorsed, that we trust no one will forego the advantages of their use.

CREDITABLE.—Our citizens were most agreeable entertained, as well as surprised, on Thursday evening by the performance of the Brass Band recently organized in this place. The occasion was their first appearance in public, and when it is considered that only a short time has elapsed since their organization, the display of musical talent richly merited the applause it received.

A CHANGE.—A very sedate citizen was observed on the street recently with his countenance wreathed in a most pleasant and unusual smile. On being interrogated, he explained the matter by stating that he had just visited Joe Heath and imbibed a draught of his "Elegant."

DEMOCRATIC MEETING.—On Thursday evening last an enthusiastic meeting of Democrats assembled in this place to listen to the speech of Hon. James A. Johnson, candidate for re-election to Congress from the Third Congressional District. Although but short notice had been given, at an early hour the streets were alive with Democrats from all parts of the county, all buoyant with hope and earnest in the advocacy of the cause which had called them together. The firing of canon and the music of the Woodland Brass Band announced the hour of meeting, and the crowd gathered around the speaker's stand in front of Baker's Hotel, filling up the seats prepared for the occasion, and occupying considerable space up and down the street for standing-room. The balconies of the hotel were principally occupied by the ladies, many of whom were present from the various precincts of the county. The meeting was called to order by Wm. Minis. J. C. Ball was elected President and E. Giddings, Secretary. The President opened the meeting by a brief but eloquent address, at the close of which loud calls were made for Mr. Johnson. On taking the stand the speaker was greeted with repeated cheers and demonstrations, clearly indicating that the people were satisfied with his course as Representative of this District, and more than anxious to honor him with a new term. His speech throughout was argumentative and forcible, eliciting frequent applause, and exposing with damaging effect the tenets of Radicalism. We regret that we have not space at present to give a synopsis of his eloquent remarks. The meeting was also addressed in an eloquent manner by H. G. Burnett, Esq., and Judge M. A. Woods. Cheer after cheer went up for the candidates and speakers, and at a late hour the crowd seemed reluctant to leave the ground.

ATTEMPT TO COMMIT SUICIDE.—Mrs. Abigail Allen, a married woman residing on Third street, made an attempt at self-destruction on last Monday night. Domestic trouble was given as the cause of her strange proceeding. She procured, by false representation, a quantity of morphine, and secretly swallowed a large dose. As soon as the fact was ascertained, a physician was sent for and the life of the unhappy woman was saved.

GAME LAW.—We noticed this week quite a number of hunting parties preparing to capture a supply of game. It should be borne in mind that the law prohibiting the killing of quail is still in force; the time, however, will expire on Tuesday next, the 15th inst. It is not lawful to trap quail during any season of the year.

HARK FROM THE TOMBS.—Radicals in this vicinity were treated to a favorite harangue, consisting of a tirade of abusive epithets applied to the Democratic party, on Wednesday evening last, by "Melancholy" McCallum.

ELK HORN LANDING.—A large quantity of grain has been hauled to the point on the Sacramento river known as Elk Horn. During the season doubtless a large shipment of wheat and barley will be made from that place.

TEMPERANCE LECTURES.—A celebrated temperance lecturer, known as "Brown, of Yonkers," is announced to address the citizens of Woodland at the M. E. Church on Sunday and Monday evenings.

ELECTRO SILICON.—This curious and valuable substance is confidently claimed to be the BEST ARTICLE ever discovered for cleaning and polishing Gold, Silver and Plated Ware, and all smooth metallic surfaces, of whatever description, including kitchen utensils of tin, copper, brass, steel, etc.

"IN TIME OF PEACE PREPARE FOR WAR."—So get a bottle of DR. E. COOPER'S UNIVERSAL MAGNETIC BALM, an unequalled preparation for Dysentery, Diarrhœa and Cramp. The instantaneous relief for Burns, Bruises and Sprains.

TO HEADS OF FAMILIES.—Are your little ones subject to croup? If so, don't fail to use NEWELL'S PULMONARY SYRUP. A few doses given in time MAY SAVE THE LIFE OF A DARLING CHILD. Do not fail to have it on hand, if you would be safe and free from anxiety.

OUR CONVERTS.—Our Radical friends are still crowing lustily over the "conversion" of Al. Dudley and Col. Sibley to Republicanism. These two individuals gave in their adhesion a couple of months ago, and we have heard of no others so far. But how is it on the other side? Converts from Radicalism to Democracy can be numbered by hundreds, and of influential native Californians alone dozens can be named. Among the most prominent are Major J. R. Pico, of Santa Cara; Captain Sanchez, of Los Angeles; Snobia Pico, of San Luis Obispo; Juan B Castro, of Castroville; Vicente Castro, of Monterey, and Judge Pablo de la Guera, Judge of the First District. Major Pico was a gallant officer in the late war. He has bucked on the Democratic armor and will start at once to make a canvass of the State for Seymour and Blair.—[Napa Reporter.

THE SOLDIERS FOR SEYMOUR.—A letter to the Albany Argus, from a New York soldier, stationed at New Iberia, Louisiana, says: "I wil be home in time to cast a vote for Seymour. There are twenty-five Democratic votes in my company, whose time will be out in September, all of whom will cast their votes for the Democratic nominees."

The Reasons for Insuring

—IN THE—

NEW ENGLAND MUTUAL

Life Insurance Company;

OF BOSTON.

By the Acts of Massachusetts, incorporated into the General Statutes of 1860 and 1864, a Policy of Life Insurance for the benefit of a Married Woman, or any person or persons specified, goes to them independently of the debts and liabilities of the party who effects the policy.

An Act to Regulate the Forfeiture of Policies of Life Insurance.

Be it Enacted, etc., as follows:

SECTION 1.—No Policy of Insurance on Life, hereafter issued by any Company chartered by the authority of this Commonwealth, shall be forfeited or become void by the non-payment of premium thereon, any further than regards the right of the party insured therein to have it continued in force beyond a certain period, to be determined as follows, to-wit: The net value of the policy, when the premium becomes due and is not paid, shall be ascertained, according to the "combined experience" or "actuaries'" rate of mortality, with interest at four per cent. per annum. After deducting from such net value any indebtedness to the company or notes held by the company against the insured, which notes if given for premium shall then be canceled, four-fifths of what remains shall be considered as a net single premium of temporary insurance, and the term for which it will insure shall be determined according to the age of the party at the time of the lapse of the premium, and the assumptions of mortality and interest aforesaid.

SECTION 2.—If the death of the party occur within the term of temporary insurance covered by the value of the policy, as determined in the previous section, and if no condition of the insurance, other than the payment of premium shall have been violated by the insured, the company shall be bound to pay the amount of the policy the same as if there had been no lapse of premium, anything in the policy to the contrary notwithstanding: provided, however, that notice of the claim and proof of the death shall be submitted to the company within ninety days after decease; and provided, also, that the company shall have the right to deduct from the amount insured in the policy the amount at six per cent. per annum of the premiums that had been forborne at the time of the death.

If you want a genuine American Gold or Silver Watch, call on the new firm of

RUGGLES & MACHEFERT,

YOLO COUNTY DEMOCRAT.

National Democratic Platform.

The Democratic party in National Convention assembled, reposing its trust in the intelligence, patriotism and discriminating justice of the people, stand upon the Constitution as the foundation and limitation of the powers of the Government, and the guarantee of the liberties of the citizen, and recognizing the questions of slavery and secession as having been settled for all time to come by the war, or the volunteer action of the Southern States in Constitutional Conventions assembled, and never to be resuscitated, do, with the return of peace, demand:

First—The immediate restoration of all States to their rights in the Union under the Constitution of civil government and the American people.

Second—Amnesty for all past political offenses and the regulation of the elective franchise in the States by their citizens.

Third—The payment of the public debt of the United States as rapidly as practicable, all money drawn from the people by taxation, except so much as is requisite for the necessities of the Government economically administered, being honestly applied to such payment, and when the obligations of the Government do not expressly state upon their face or the law under which they were issued does not provide that they shall be paid in coin, they ought in right and in justice to be paid in the lawful money of the United States.

Fourth—Equal taxation of every species of property, according to value, including Government bonds and other public securities.

Fifth—One currency for the Government and the people, the laborer and the officeholder, the pensioner and the soldier, the producer and the bond-holder.

Sixth—Economy in the administration of the Government, the reduction of the standing army and navy, the abolition of the Freedmen's Bureau, and all political instrumentalities designed to serve negro supremacy; simplification of the system, and discontinuance of inquisitorial modes of assessing and collecting internal revenue; that the burden of taxation be equalized and lessened; the credit of the country made good; all enactments for the enrolling of the State militia into national forces in time of peace, and a tariff for revenue upon foreign imports; and such equal taxation under the internal revenue laws as will afford incidental protection to domestic manufactures as will, without impairing the revenue, impose the least burden upon and best promote and encourage the great industrial interests of the country.

Seventh—Reform of abuses in the administration; the expulsion of corrupt men from office; the abrogation of useless offices, the restoration of rightful authority to the independence of the Executive and Judicial Departments of the Government; the subordination of military to the civil power, to the end that the usurpation of Congress and despotism of the sword may cease.

Eighth—Equal rights and protection for naturalized and native born citizens at home and abroad; the assertion of American nationality which will command the respect of foreign powers, furnish an example and encouragement to people struggling for national integrity, constitutional liberty and individual rights, and the maintenance of the rights of naturalized citizens against the absolute doctrine of immutable allegiance and the claims of foreign powers to punish them for alleged crime committed beyond their jurisdiction. In demanding these measures and reforms we arraign the radical party for its disregard of right and the unparalleled opposition and tyranny which have worked its career. After the most solemn and unanimous pledge of both Houses of Congress to prosecute the war exclusively for the maintenance of the Government and the preservation of the Union under the Constitution, it has repeatedly violated that most sacred pledge under which was rallied that noble volunteer army which carried our flag to victory. Instead of restoring the Union it has so far as it is in its power dissolved it and subjected ten States, in time of profound peace, to military despotism and negro suffrage. It has nullified there the right of trial by jury; it has abolished the habeas corpus, that most sacred writ of liberty; it has overthrown the freedom of speech and the press; it has substituted arbitrary seizures and arrests, and military trials and secret Star Chamber inquisitions for constitutional tribunals. It has disregarded in time of peace the right of the people to be free from search and seizures. It has entered the post and telegraph offices, and even the private rooms of individuals, and seized their private papers and letters, without any specification or notice of affidavit, as required by the organic law. It has converted the American Capitol into a bastile. It has established a system of spies and official espionage to which no constitutional monarchy of Europe would now dare to resort. It has abolished the right of appeal on important constitutional questions to the supreme and judicial tribunal, and threatens to curtail or destroy its original jurisdiction, which is irrevocably vested by the Constitution, while the learned Chief Justice has been subject to great and atrocious calumnies merely because he would not prostitute his high office to the support of the false and partisan charges preferred against the President. Its corruption and extravagance have exceeded anything known in history, and by its frauds and monopolies it has nearly doubled the burden of the debt created during the war. It has stripped the President of his constitutional power of appointment, even of his own Cabinet. Under its repeated assaults the pillars of the Government are rocking on their base, and should it succeed in November next, and inaugurate its President, we will meet as a subjected and conquered people amid the ruins of liberty and the scattered fragments of the Constitution. And we do declare and resolve that ever since the people of the United States threw off all subjection to the British Crown, the privilege and trust of suffrage have belonged to the several States, and have been granted, regulated and controlled exclusively by the political power of each State respectively, and any attempt by Congress, on any pretext whatever, to deprive any State of this right, or interfere with this exercise, is a flagrant usurpation of power which can find no warrant in the Constitution, and if sanctioned by the people will subvert our form of Government, and can only end in a single centralized, consolidated government, in which the separate existence of the States will be absorbed, and an unqualified despotism be established in place of a Federal Union of co-equal States, and that we regard the reconstruction acts of Congress such usurpations, and unconstitutional, revolutionary and void.

That our soldiers and sailors, who carried the flag of our country to victory against a most gallant and determined foe, must be ever gratefully remembered, and all the guarantees given in their favor must be faithfully carried into execution.

That the public lands should be distributed as widely among the people and should be disposed of either under the pre-emption of homestead lands, and sold in reasonable quantities, and to none but actual occupants, at the minimum price established by the Government. When grants of the public lands may be allowed necessary for the encouragement of important public improvements, the proceeds of such lands, and not the lands themselves, should be applied.

That the President of the United States, Andrew Johnson, exercising the power of his office in restricting the aggression of Congress on the constitutional rights of the States and the people, is entitled to the gratitude of the whole American people, and on behalf of the Democratic party we tender him our thanks for his patriotic efforts in that regard.

Upon this platform the Democratic party appeal to every patriot, including all the conservative elements, and all who desire to support the Constitution and restore the Union, forgetting all past differences of opinion, to unite with us in the present great struggle for the liberties of the people; and that to all such, to whatever party they may have heretofore belonged, we extend the right hand of fellowship, and hail all such as friends and brothers.

THE NEW

WEED

SEWING MACHINE!

Just completed, in SOLID STEEL MACHINERY, and combining in ONE the good of ALL!

This most enterprising Company has certainly brought out

THE BEST SEWING MACHINE EVER MADE!

And indeed is the ONLY NEW Sewing Machine, of any name, manufactured for the last eight years. Even a superficial observer can easily see that it surpasses all others, at least in the simplicity and durability of its machinery, and its remarkable

EASE OF MOTION AND MANAGEMENT.

It has few pieces, and all of steel. It makes the complete "Lock Stitch," the same on both sides, which will not ravel. Every Machine is warranted to sew from Thinest Lace, to Double Harness Leather!

and of course can never be got out of order by "hard sewing." ☞ All repairs free of charge. Prices same as others.

PLEASE NOTICE.

The claims of the Florence Company for the First Premium at the great Paris Exposition of 1867, though seeming true in letter, is really false in spirit and intent, and calculated greatly to deceive the public. Although it did receive the Silver Medal—that being the highest award given—it was not awarded the FIRST RANK! This was awarded the Weed Sewing Machine, and to the WEED only, as being "first in the order of merit." The second place was given to an European Machine, and only the third to the Florence! But the claim of the Wheeler & Wilson Company, at this Fair, is a great outrage, both as to letter and spirit; at least so much of it as pertains to their Gold Medal upon their Family Machine, which, to speak plain, is purely imaginary, they having received—as is well known—their Gold Medal on their "Button-hole Machine," but nothing at all on their "Family Machine;" not even a bronze medal, nor indeed (what is worse) even an "honorable mention." (See official report.) See also, as to the new WEED Sewing Machine, the returns of the State Fairs of Pennsylvania, Illinois, New Hampshire and New York, for 1867, at each of which the NEW WEED "F. F." Sewing Machine was pronounced the BEST, and received the highest premium given. And so also at other Fairs, and indeed wherever the Company shall choose to exhibit the "strong points" of this really magnificent Machine.

Great Paris Exposition, 1867,

Being the highest honors and all the Gold Medals awarded to any Sewing Machine Company at this Exposition.

As a HOLIDAY Present, Nothing will be more appreciated THAN ONE OF these MACHINES.

America, England and France, now unite in this grand Proclamation:

Good news! good news the cable brings,
O'er all the wires it flies,
Wheeler & Wilson's sewing machine
Brings back the golden prize.

Our "Uncle Sam" first struck the note,
"John Bull" then caught the sound;
Now comes from France the echo back,
Wheeler & Wilson's crowned.

And now, no more the people doubt,
So long its stood the test—
The thing is fairly noised about
And they will buy the best.

☞ We can now supply those who wish to purchase STODDARD'S PATENT TUCK-MARKER, one of the most useful attachments to the Machine yet invented; which, while sewing one tuck, makes the line of marks for the next.

HELMBOLD'S BUCHU.

The only Known Remedy

— FOR —

Diabetes, Irritation of the Neck of the Bladder, Inflamation of the Kidneys, Catarrh of the Bladder, &c., &c., &c.

For these diseases, it is truly a sovereign remedy, and too much cannot be said in its praise. A single dose has been known to relieve the most urgent symptoms. Are you troubled with that disgusting pain in the small of the back and through the hips? A teaspoonful a day of Helmbold's Buchu will relieve you.

Physicians and Others

PLEASE NOTICE.

I make no secret of ingredients. Helmbold's Extract Buchu is composed of Buchu, Cubebs and Juniper Berries, selected with care, prepared in vacuo and according to the rules of Pharmacy and Chemistry.

These ingredients are known as the most valuable Diuretics afforded. A Diuretic is that which acts upon the Kidneys. Helmbold's Extract Buchu acts gently. It is pleasant in taste and odor, free from all injurious properties, and immediate in its action. For the satisfaction of all, see Medical Properties contained in Dispensatory of the United States, of which the following is a correct copy:

"BUCHU. Its odor is strong, diffusive and somewhat aromatic, its taste bitterish, and analogous to that of mint. It is given chiefly in complaints of the Urinary Organs, such as Gravel, chronic catarrh of the Bladder, morbid irritation of the Bladder and Uretha, diseases of the Prostrate, and Retention or Incontinence of Urine, from a loss of tone in the parts concerned in its evacuation. It has also been recommended in Dyspepsia, chronic Rheumatism, cutaneous affections and Dropsy."

For further information see Professor Dewees' valuable works on the Practice of Physic. See remarks made by the celebrated Dr. Physic, of Philadelphia. See any and all standard works on Medicine.

Dr. Keyser is a physician of over thirty years' experience, and a graduate of the Jefferson Medical college and of the University of Medicine and Surgery of Philadelphia:

Mr. H. T. HELMBOLD—Dear Sir: In regard to the question asked me as to my opinion about Buchu, I would say that I have used and sold the article in various forms for the past thirty years. I do not think there is any form or preparation of it I have not used or known to be used, in the various diseases where such medicate agent would be indicated. You are aware, as well as myself, that it has been extensively employed in the various diseases of the bladder and kidneys; and the reputation it has acquired, in my judgment, is warranted by the facts. I have seen and used, as before stated, every form of Buchu—the powdered leaves, the simple decoction, tincture fluid extracts; and I am not cognizant of any preparation of that plant at all equal to yours. Eighteen years' experience ought, I think, to give me the right to judge of its merits, and without prejudice or partiality I give yours precedence over all others. I value your Buchu for its effects on patients. I have cured with it, and seen cured with it, more diseases of the bladder and kidneys than I have ever seen cured with any other Buchu, or any other proprietory compound of whatever name. Respectfully yours, etc.,
GEO. H. KEYSER, M. D., 140 Wood st.
Pittsburg, Pa., August 11, 1865.

HELMBOLD'S FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU.

FROM THE LARGEST MANUFACTURING CHEMIST IN THE WORLD.

I am acquainted with H. T. Helmbold; he occupies the drug store opposite my residence, and was successful in conducting the business where others had not been equally so before him. I have been favorably impressed with his character and enterprise. WM. WEIGHTMAN, (firm of Powers & Weightman), Manufacturing chemists, Ninth and Brown streets, Phila.

The proprietor has been induced to make this statement from the fact that his remedies, although advertised, are genuine preparations, and knowing that the intelligent refrain from using anything pertaining to Quackery, or the Patent Medicine order—most of which are prepared by self-styled doctors, who are too ignorant to read a physicians' simplest prescription, much less competent to prepare Pharmaceutical preparations. These parties resort to various means of effecting sales, such as copying parts of advertisements of popular remedies and finishing with certificates. The science of medicine stands simple, pure and majestic, having fact for its basis, induction for its pillar, truth alone for its capital.

A Word of Caution.

Health is most important; and the afflicted should not use an advertised medicine, or any remedy, unless its contents or ingredients are known to others besides the manufacturer, or until they are satisfied of the qualifications of the party so offering.
